Alcohol-drug abuse
program this evening

Bob Meszaros, drug abuse chairman of the Granite City Elks and also the Elks Southwest District chairman, will be the guest speaker at 6 tonight (Sunday evening) at the Johnson Road General Baptist Church, located at 2033 Johnson Road.

He became interested in drug and alcohol abuse when the DARE (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) program was formed in Granite City several years ago.

The local Elks lodge, Lodge 1063, actively supports anti-drug programs and has purchased displays utilized in drug presentations.

Meszaros and his exhibits have been well received throughout the area and teen-agers and adults have highly praised his appearances, church officials said.

The public is invited to attend tonight's program.

Washboard Laundromat
holding grand opening

The Washboard Laundromat, 24th and Adams streets, will hold its grand opening through Feb. 29.

Customers will receive a free wash and will be given an opportunity to register for free prizes, including Sunday brunch for two at Charlie's Restaurant luncheon certificates for three separate winners at Buck and Jan's The Den, 10 pounds of drop-off laundry service and a 12-cup automatic drip coffee maker.

Washboard Laundromat is equipped with Maytag washers and dryers.

There are 15 top-load, five double-load and four triple-load washers and 18 dryers.

A playroom for children has been provided.

The facility will have an attendant on duty at all times.

Washboard Laundromat will offer drop-off laundry service and will be open daily from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Ronnie Williams scored 29 points and the Trojans overcame major foul problems to upset Teutopolis 76-73 in Madison on Friday. Three players had fouled out by game's end, but the Trojans hung on to hand the Wooden Shoes only their second loss in 26 games. T-town was ranked third in the state Class A poll coming in. It was a big confidence boost for the Trojans (13-11), who open regional play Tuesday in Freeburg against Lebanon.

Madison may offer breakfast

By Randy Vaughn
Staff writer

Breakfast may be available at school beginning in September for all students in the Madison School District.

The Madison School Board on Thursday approved the district's participation in the U.S. Department of Agriculture Food Nutrition Service breakfast program if federal and state funding can be obtained for part of the cost.

Kindergarten through the 12th grade would be affected. The U.S. Congress has authorized $5 million for the program nationally in the next school year, school officials said.

"Unemployment is extremely high and single-parent-family households are prevalent," Superintendent of Schools Dan Kostencki said. "We feel a need to start a school breakfast program at all levels. Breakfast helps students to get through a long morning feeling well-nourished, more alert, and less fatigued."

Students who are hungry and undernourished cannot concentrate on their school work, Kostencki said. He noted that hungry students sometimes become irritable and create discipline problems.

School breakfast service is expected to become mandatory in approximately two years, Cafeteria Director Mary Beth Sipes said.

A number of parents had asked about bringing a breakfast program to Madison, Sipes said.

Madison County State's Attorney Bill Haine said Friday he will defy a court order to provide grand-jury information about the death of Frank O'Donnell to a St. Clair County judge for review.

Associate Judge Robert P. LeChien ordered Haine on Wednesday to provide copies of the file by March 3. LeChien said he would review police records and grand-jury information himself and decide whether to allow attorneys in a civil lawsuit to have access.

The civil case centers around a $1 million insurance policy on O'Donnell which is being disputed by his survivors. Children from O'Donnell's first marriage do not believe his widow should be awarded the money.

LeChien said he would deny disclosure of the full document if his investigation reveals nothing.

Weber rejects
ACLU's assistance

State Supreme Court candidate Don Weber has spurned the American Civil Liberties Union's offer to help him fight a ban on candidates commenting on issues.

Weber, of rural Edwardsville, is seeking the Republican nomination for the Supreme Court in the 5th Judicial District. He is opposed by John Rhine of Mount Carmel.

Weber claims the Supreme Court ban is unfair to candidates, unfair to voters and unconstitutional.

Weber was contacted by the ACLU after he said he probably would challenge the rule in federal court.

"Although the ACLU offered financial and legal support to test Rule 67 in court, I felt that I would rather fight the battle alone than compromise my principles by embracing an organization which has wrought nothing but mischief during its existence," Weber said.

Weber said the ACLU's views on the rule are similar to his, but "we're not in total agreement. Our philosophies are different."

Weber said his lawsuit probably will be filed next week and said the ACLU may enter the case not as his attorney, but as a friend of the court.

Weber said the right of judicial candidates to speak out may be the key issue in the primary and general election campaigns.

"If my lawsuit fails on deaf ears, this campaign will be decided by money," he said.

Some students in Illinois learn reading, writing and arithmetic without leaving home.

More than 40 families and 68 students filed for home schooling within Madison County in 1991 at the Regional Superintendent of Schools Office in Edwardsville.

More than 120 applications have been filed in the last five years, officials said.

"There are quite a few people who have filed," said Madison County Regional Superintendent Harry Briggs Jr.

Regional Superintendent of Schools official Cullen L. Cullen said he knows of some groups in Alton that operate group homes.

Cullen said generally 50 to 60 percent of home schools are started for reasons of religious freedom. He said most are from the Church of Jehovah's Witnesses, which advocates home schooling.

Another 5 percent begin home programs because of troubles within the public school system.

Cullen said that, in these situations, the regional office works with the families to try to improve conditions within the public

300 rally to show support for Dunham
Haitian protest continuesBy Mike Myers
Staff writer

State Rep. Wyvetter Young joined more than 300 people in a noontime rally Friday to show support for dancer Katherine Dunham, then in the 19th day of a fast protesting the deportation of Haitian refugees.

Young, whose redrawn district includes Venice, Madison and West Granite, addressed the crowd in front of St. Mary's Hospital in East St. Louis, where the 52-year-old Dunham was reported to be in failing health as a result of her fast.

Dunham has vowed not to eat until Haitians who have fled to the United States are granted temporary protective status.

"What Katherine Dunham is doing for, we must live for," Young said, calling for everyone to join in prayer vigils planned throughout the weekend for Dunham.

In a statement read to the crowd, Dunham said, "Don't worry about my health; it is in the hands of an authority beyond you and me."

Dunham said people should instead worry about the fate of the Haitians who may be facing death if forced to return to their country.

Dunham asked that everyone call President George Bush at 202-456-1111 and tell him to end the deportations and grant temporary protective status to the Haitians.

On Thursday, comedian Dick Gregory was arrested by federal authorities after he and fellow protesters Sylvester "Sunshine" Lee and Cleo Willis chained themselves to the federal building in East St. Louis in support of Dunham.

The three had been arrested earlier in the week for chaining themselves to the federal court house there, but were released after agreeing to stay at least 100 feet from the courthouse.

All three remained in jail Fri.

Public defender answers call of duty — jury duty

Madison County Public Defender John Rekowski is wearing a badge of distinction this week. He's been picked for jury duty.

In addition to operating a private law practice in Collinsville and representing indigent people charged with felonies, the lawyer was one of 171 jurors called for duty this week.

"I do find it a tad bit inconvenient," Rekowski said Tuesday, adding that he would not ask to be removed. "It has gotten some laughs around the courthouse."

Tuesday, the public defender said he was assigned to report to Associate Judge Daniel J. Stack, who presides mainly over forclosures, probate and juvenile cases.

No one is exempt from duty, even lawyers who frequently try to sway jurors to get clients cleared of criminal charges or awarded large settlements in civil cases, said Jury Commission Administrator Doris Kloss-temeyer.

"It's up to the judges or attorneys if they want to keep him," she said.

Rekowski said it's not too outlandish that he'll be called for jury duty, but it would be odd for a judge and two opposing lawyers to agree to keep him on a jury.

"It would be unusual to be picked," he said. "I know too many people there."

It could happen, though. Rekowski recalled a case in which a defense lawyer in a neighboring county was picked to serve on a criminal trial. The lawyer and other jurors agreed to a death penalty in the case.

Madison County State Attorney William Haine said it is "highly doubtful" any lawyer from his office would pick Rekowski or any other lawyer as a juror.

Booked on city warrant

Robert L. Johnson, 41, of Glen Carbon was stopped by Pontoon Beach officers Feb. 6 and arrested on a Granite City warrant for deceptive practice.

Pontoon man arrested

Granite City officers arrested a driver Feb. 6 on a warrant after stopping him at Edwardsville Road and 20th Street for questioning. Marcus Anthony White, 30, of the 400 block of Oakmont in Pontoon Beach was wanted on a Venice warrant alleging theft.

St. Louis man arrested

Scott Lee Coleman, 19, of St. Louis was arrested Feb. 5 by Illinois State Police on a Granite City warrant alleging failure to appear on a charge of expired registration.

Booked on DUI charge

James Lee Campbell, 32, of Glen Carbon was cited for driving under the influence of alcohol, speeding and not wearing a seat belt on Feb. 15. He was halted by police on Nameoki Road at Lindell Boulevard.

Arrested on warrant

Jack D. Kellems, 18, of the 2900 block of Iowa Street was arrested Feb. 18 at his residence on a warrant alleging failure to appear to a retail theft charge.

Fire damages home

Fire damaged a single-family home at 2502 E. 27th St. at 4:06

p.m. Feb. 17. The brick home of Christopher Lilley received $12,000 damage to the structure and contents.

Granite City Fire Chief Jerry Wallace said it is believed the blaze started from a discarded cigarette in the living room couch.

The fire was contained within the living room, and most of the damage was due to smoke. Firefighters were at the scene for nearly two hours.

Wounded man arrested

Granite City officers were dispatched to St. Elizabeth Medical Center on Feb. 10 and charged Ricky L. Cox, 39, of the 2100 block of Dewey Avenue with unlawful possession of a bag of cannabis.

Cox had entered the hospital with wounds suffered apparently from being stabbed with an ice pick.

Officers noted several minor wounds on the left side of Cox's chest, but he declined to give information on how he was injured. He was turned over to police following treatment.

Beer, cannabis charges

Philip White, 31, of the 4100 block of Pontoon Road was charged with illegal transportation of beer, improper lane usage and unlawful possession of two cannabis cigarettes on Feb. 10. Officers had observed White's vehicle at 19th Street and Niedringhaus Avenue and halted it at West 21st Street and Illinois Avenue.

Illinois Bell draws criticism at hearing on new rate law

A hearing on telephone rate legislation drew no complaints on the proposed law but several comments against the phone company.

About 45 people attended a Citizens Utility Board forum in Collinsville Wednesday and were urged to contact legislators and voice their opposition to telephone company proposals.

The law governing telephone rate-making was to expire Dec. 30, but legislators extended it through May 15 to draft a new law.

CUB organizer Anne Irving said telephone companies want to remove a requirement that rates be based on the cost of providing service plus a fair profit.

"The bottom line is more money out of the pockets of consumers and into the pockets of Illinois Bell," Irving said.

An Illinois Bell spokesman has said rates would remain under "strict controls" under the company's proposal for the new legislation.

CUB organizer Seamus Glynn conceded that few consumers understand the complexities of the coming legislation or its possible impact on them. No one had any comments or questions regarding the legislation, but there were complaints about telephone rates.

Terry Lochmann of Collinsville said his family's telephone bill has doubled since Illinois Bell was allowed to institute mandatory pay-per-call billing.

"Let (Illinois Bell) go talk to Illinois Power and they can split up that 9.1 percent rate increase," Lochmann said in reference to an Illinois Commerce Commission ruling two weeks ago giving Illinois Power Co. a 9.1 percent rate hike.

Lochmann said telephone users who don't need phones for emergencies should suspend service for two weeks to show their displeasure with Illinois Bell.

Dan Wondolowski of Collinsville added that lobbyists are the "root of all the problems."

CUB, a consumer advocacy group, is pushing for a law that would enhance consumer protections, including an end to mandatory pay-per-call billing and the return of a flat-rate option for local service.

Rep. Jay Hoffman, D-Collinsville, attended the meeting and said he and other legislators will try to make sure the new legislation does not harm consumers. Hoffman said members of the Illinois Commerce Commission, which sets utility rates, should be elected rather than appointed by the governor.

"We're going to get to a point where people say enough is enough and we're going to get our way," he said.

Patrick Harvey, CUB representative for this area, urged the 50 participants to contact at least 10 friends each about the Telecommunications Act and then have them call their representatives.

"I assure you, 500 phone calls will make a difference," he said.

Fairview Heights' residents Victor and Elizabeth Morris plan on doing just that.

Victor Morris spoke out during the CUB meeting about his monthly bills from Illinois Bell.

Even after making at least 30 long distance calls each month, the Morris' local bill is higher than their long distance bill from AT&T, Victor Morris said.

"It's ridiculous," he said.

The Morris' monthly bill from AT&T normally amounts to $21. Their bill from Illinois Bell runs around $32, he said. The bills each include the monthly service cost.

Comments sought on waste plant

Granite City residents have until March 9 to voice any concerns about a hazardous-waste treatment plant proposed within the city limits.

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency gave notice on Jan. 23 of its intent to issue a permit to Elicam-Granite Inc. for a facility that would recycle heavy metals from hazardous industrial sludges and solids.

The IEPA is asking for public comment from interested citizens who request clarification of one or more issues concerning the draft permit. A public hearing can be held in response to public requests or at the discretion of the IEPA.

The proposed location for the facility is between Illinois Route 3 and the Chain of Rocks Canal at 3001 Route 3, about 1.5 miles south of the West Pontoon Road intersection.

The treatment plant would provide commercial hazardous-waste management service to a wide range of industrial clients.

Copies of the permit application, draft permit decisions, and related fact sheets are available for viewing at the Granite City Public Library at 2001 Delmar Ave. Library officials request that residents telephone ahead for an appointment to view the documents.

Written comments should be mailed to Public Involvement Coordinator Mara McGinnis at the Illinois EPA Government and Community Affairs Department, 220 Churchill Road, P.O. Box 9276, Springfield, Ill. 62794-9276.

Board approves 'stop smoking' class for high school students

By Randy Vaughn
Staff writer

Student cigarette smokers will be offered the opportunity to kick the habit through a new "stop smoking" class at Granite City High School.

The Granite City School Board approved the stop-smoking program "Fresh Start." The St. Elizabeth Medical Center staff will be working with the students in the sessions.

The program is periodically offered at the medical center to the community or at different businesses through the Wellness Center, Respiratory Therapy Advisor Paula Gonterman said.

This is Gonterman's first session with young students, she said, adding that the younger they quit smoking, the better off they will be.

"No matter how old they are, it is still difficult to stop smoking," she said. "Whether you're 54 and have been smoking for 40 years or you're 16 and have been smoking for two years, the smoker is still addicted to nicotine."

Smoking continues to be a problem at the high school, GCHS Principal Dave Painter said, adding that it's not any bigger problem than in other high schools, but a problem nonetheless.

"Several students are caught each week smoking in the restrooms. I have personally caught several and have had many conferences with smokers and their parents."

The smoking policy at the school does not allow students to smoke or to bring tobacco products onto school property, Painter said.

During the last several months, Painter has started asking the students if they would be interested in receiving help to stop smoking.

"I have been surprised at the overwhelming response: 'Yes, I would like to quit.' With this in mind, I contacted the hospital to see if members of the hospital staff would be willing to work with our students in helping them stop smoking," he said.

The group will meet once a week after school for four weeks, Gonterman said, probably during March. The cost associated with the program for each student is $12.50, and $25 for staff members.

The first session will cover why people smoke and why they want to quit, and will provide approaches to stopping, Gonterman said.

"We recommend quitting 'cold turkey,' but we go over the gradual process," she said.

The second session will be concerned with managing the stress for the first few days.

"People often back off from the program when they begin to feel the stress involved," she said.

The third session will teach the students to master the obstacles involved in stopping the smoking habit.

"You need to plan ahead for the things that might make you want to go back to smoking: planning for weight control and social activities, such as parties — a place most have associated with smoking," she said.

The final session will include the benefits of kicking the cigarette habit, she said.

"One's fitness will improve, not to mention the long-term health benefits," Gonterman said.

The success ratio for the program is about 30 to 35 percent, she said.

If three out of 10 quit, we feel we've done a pretty good job," she said. "It's hard to quit and stay off."

The staff tries to focus on those who have successfully quit.

"Some have stopped right to 10 times before they actually quit for good," she said. "Don't lose your spirit if you go back and smoke a cigarette or two. Always keep trying."

School officials estimate that 15 to 20 students will start the "Fresh Start" program.

HEEL PAIN?

If you are suffering from pain located at the bottom of the heel, you may have plantar fasciitis. Plantar fasciitis refers to inflammation of a ligament that attaches to the heel bone and fans out into the toes. The inflammation may be due to a variety of etiologies, almost all of which can be resolved through conservative treatments.

THE VOICE BOX: Do you think radar detectors should be banned as a means for reducing vehicle accidents?

By John Swistak Jr., T.L. Witt and Pam Doeppke-Hurd.

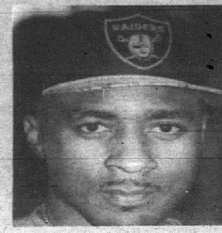

Andy Grzywacz, Madison
"I don't think they should be banned. People will speed without them, but when they go off people slow down."

Don Sackett, Granite City
"Garbage. Radar detectors are just a means of being aware. There is too much of a chance for catching speeders without banning radar detectors."

George Gass, Collinsville
"I think banning them would be fine. I don't believe in them, my son has one and I don't approve."

Glen Berger, Collinsville
"I think they are great personally, because the radar speed traps are so ridiculous. I'd be against a ban."

Charles Colborn, Swansea
"I don't think it would cut down on the number of accidents. People should be allowed to have them if they want."

Lisa Bundy, Belleville
"Yes. I would be in favor of a ban. I know if I had one I would probably speed more often."

Plan would merge state police offices

Collinsville State Police District 12 would expand to cover District 18 in Litchfield as part of a proposed statewide reorganization prompted by "top-heavy administration."

Gov. Jim Edgar has not approved the plan, but he hinted last week that the move could be the start of a major shake-up in the way state government does business.

"We may have to eliminate programs or move things around," Edgar said. He hinted that his April 7 budget plan would include proposals for restructuring state government.

State Police Director Gainer said he was proposing "sweeping changes" in his department to save money and shift more administrators into patrolling highways and investigating crimes.

"We've become a working model for the phrase 'too many chiefs, not enough Indians,'" Gainer said.

State Police District 18 headquarters in Litchfield, which covers Jersey, Greene, Calhoun, Macoupin and Montgomery counties, would be eliminated and merged with District 12 in Collinsville under the proposal. District 12 now covers Madison, St. Clair, Monroe, Bond and Clinton counties.

Gainer's plan, expected to be approved by Edgar, would slash the 40 State Police district and zone headquarters to 15 districts, phased in over three years. About 89 officers would be shifted statewide.

District 18 would be among the first to go under the proposal, which would be effective next Jan. 1 if approved.

The elimination of the district would mean seven officers now assigned to administrative desk jobs would be shifted to patrol and investigation duties. Another six civilian jobs at Litchfield would be eliminated, State Police spokesman Sgt. Charles Schwartz said.

He said the consolidation would not affect highway patrols, since troopers assigned squad cars take them home and would continue to be assigned near home.

The district headquarters in Litchfield is owned by the state, but closing it would save utilities and maintenance costs. Some other headquarters targeted for closing are leased, which would save rent, Schwartz said.

Recommended for closure in addition to Litchfield are trooper district offices in Sterling, Macomb, Pontiac, Pesotum, Ashkum, DuQuoin and Carlini. Also recommended for shutdown are five offices where police investigators work: Sterling, Des Plaines, Bloomington, Bourbonnais and Elmhurst.

Some of the buildings are on old highways that have been replaced by more heavily traveled interstates, Gainer said. Changes in population and crime patterns have left some obsolete.

The full plan could save state government about $12 million a year, Gainer said.

"Now you need to have the desks staffed 24 hours a day at these headquarters. With the consolidation, more of those people will be devoted for patrols," Schwartz said.

It hasn't been determined if any command officers would be demoted, he said.

The State Police headquarters system has not been reorganized since 1977, Gainer said. He said he expected opposition from "vested interests and entrenched bureaucrats."

Edgar said the possibility of eliminating or merging some state agencies was also being studied but "we're not ready to say who, when or where."

Because of continuing budget problems, "we have to take a look at all parts of state government," Edgar said. "We're going back to ground zero and are taking a look at all our programs and structures."

"Some structures that have worked in the past may not be necessary in the 1990s," Edgar said, adding, "I think the time is ripe for consolidation."

Springfield firm hired for SIUE outdoor lighting project

An outdoor lighting project on the Edwardsville campus of Southern Illinois University will get under way this spring.

The firm of Crawford, Murphy and Tilly Inc. of Springfield has been named by the SIUE Board of Trustees to provide architectural and engineering services for a $308,901 exterior lighting project at the Edwardsville campus.

The Board approved the selection Thursday.

The project, to be funded by revenue from parking and traffic activities at SIUE, received initial approval from the Board in September and was approved by the Illinois Board of Higher Education as a non-instructional capital improvement on Nov. 5.

The project will install more efficient, lower wattage lighting fixtures on all campus walkways and install new or additional lighting in six parking lots, including the Supporting Services parking lot.

It will be the first general upgrade of the exterior lighting system since the campus was opened more than 25 years ago.

Childbirth classes to start

The Obstetrics Department at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, 2100 Madison Ave., Granite City, is offering classes in prepared childbirth for expectant mothers and fathers with due dates between April 1 and May 31.

Cost is $10 if delivering at SEMC and $30 if delivering elsewhere.

The six-week series of classes includes relaxation and breathing techniques, discussion of labor and delivery, medications and Cesarean sections, an introduction to parenting and breastfeeding, and a tour of the OB Department. Pre-registration is required.

Tuesday sessions begin Feb. 25; Wednesday sessions begin Feb. 26; and Thursday sessions begin Feb. 27.

All sessions will meet from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. in the OB Seminar on the second floor of the Doctors Wing at SEMC.

Those parents who have had the Lamaze class within the past two years and are expecting another child should plan to attend the first evening of the Lamaze class. An instructor will assist in determining which of the other classes should be attended.

Women anticipating their second or third Cesarean section should attend the fifth evening of any Lamaze series.

For more information or to register, the SEMC Obstetrics Department can be called at 798-3040.

Slimettes session set to begin

The Granite City Park District will be offering a new session of Slimettes at the Harold Brown Recreation Center in Lincoln Place Community Center.

The classes will be held on Monday and Wednesday from 7 p.m. until 8 p.m. and Sunday from 1 p.m. until 2 p.m. at the Brown Recreation Center.

Tuesday and Thursday classes will be held at the Lincoln Place Community Center from 7 p.m. until 8 p.m.

Registration will be held beginning Monday, Feb. 24, at 9 a.m. in the Wilson Park office. The classes will begin March 2. Fees are $10 for Park District residents and $20 for non-residents. Enrollment is limited.

If you have a dog...

You need to be concerned: Heartworm season is fast approaching. And it's as easy as a lazy afternoon nap in the shade for your dog to be affected by this potential killer. That's the bad news. The good news is that, with a few easy steps recommended by Bellemore Animal Hospital, heartworm disease is easy to prevent.

Canine heartworm disease is spread by mosquitoes. Every dog is a potential victim. If left untreated, heartworm disease can result in the death of your dog due to the damage it causes to the heart, lungs and other organs.

Signs of heartworm disease include a chronic cough, loss of appetite, weight loss and fatigue. However, these signs do not appear until the disease is well advanced. Sudden death can occur without any warning.

A simple blood test — once a year — can diagnose this disease. If your dog is free of heartworms, then a once a month treatment can protect your dog from heartworms for the rest of the year. The preventative is safe, affordable and easy to handle.

Bellemore Animal Hospital will be happy to answer any pet related questions you may have. Dr. Susan L. Jenner, practicing veterinarian at Bellemore, is a member of the American Heartworm Society, an organization of professionals dedicated to following the most recent advancements in prevention and treatment of Heartworm Disease.

You can call today to schedule your dog's heartworm check. Dr. Jenner or Dr. Timothy L. Holt will be happy to get to know you and your pet. Appointments can be made by calling during office hours.

Don't wait... it's a matter of life or death for your family's best friend.

Tri-City Area Chamber of Commerce

This poster will be distributed next month as part of the "Stash Trash" coloring contest.

Contestants, get your crayons

Nearly 800 third graders from elementary schools in Granite City, Madison and Venice will compete for savings bonds in the fifth annual poster coloring contest for the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce's "Stash Trash" campaign.

The posters are scheduled to be distributed March 2 and collected by March 18. The winners will be announced during the week of March 30, said poster contest coordinator Barb DuVal.

Last year, the seven best artists received savings bonds from local financial institutions. DuVal said the judges also selected 100 honorable mention award winners.

The winning posters are displayed in the banks which contain the savings bonds. The honorable mention posters are available for other local businesses to display. Asking the third graders to color the posters reinforces what they have already learned about protecting the environment, by allowing them to participate, DuVal said; and it offers publicity for the annual cleanup day.

"They are aware of Earth Day. We try to get them to participate in Stash Trash," she said. "A lot of the kids are in the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts. We get a lot of participation from the Scouts."

Businesses that would like to promote the April 11 cleanup day by displaying posters can call DuVal at Central Bank at 451-6600.

"We'll take the better ones and go locally to businesses and ask them if they wouldn't mind displaying one," DuVal said. "It's a good way to incorporate the local community in the drive."

Tax on drug dealers has been mostly a futile effort

SPRINGFIELD — A state law requiring drug dealers to buy colorful tax stamps has taken a licking, officials said.

The 1988 law is rarely a help in criminal trials, but in three years the state Revenue Department has collected $611,373 out of $133 million in fines.

"The act is great for going after money, but it doesn't give a lot criminally," Madison County Assistant State's Attorney Bob Ellowitz said. Use of the law in criminal trials causes more paperwork, longer trials and sometimes doesn't increase sentencing, Ellowitz said.

The law requires drug dealers to buy green, red or blue tax stamps in order to sell grams of marijuana or cocaine. The fee ranges from $5 per to $2,000 per stamp, which includes a skull-and-crossbones design and "Just Say No" message.

Selling drugs without the stamps is a felony, but the law does not replace other laws outlawing drug sales.

"Based upon my experience, I don't see the charge very often," said Ken Baumgarten, administrator of the local drug unit with the state appellate prosecutor office, which provides specialized help to state's attorneys.

Baumgarten said he doesn't recommend prosecutors "go plunging in with a tax-stamp charge because it could hurt a case."

Some prosecutors fear that prosecution under both the tax stamp law and other drug laws may be a violation of constitutional protection against double

"We don't think any drug dealers purchased them. Drug dealers are fairly ingenious. They aren't going to incriminate themselves."

— Kevin Johnson
Revenue official

jeopardy, which protects people from being tried twice on the same charge.

A U.S. Supreme Court ruling has said, in a similar situation not involving drugs, that double jeopardy applied when officials tried to collect tax fines, Baumgarten said.

"I expect the Supreme Court to debate it soon," said McDonough County State's Attorney Bob Poncin, who has successfully prosecuted violations of the tax law.

Ellowitz said Madison County prosecutors use the law "from time to time," but it carries a one- to three-year prison term, while other drug laws carry terms ranging from three to seven years.

The stamps do help revenue officials, who can seize money and property from dealers who didn't buy stamps, Ellowitz said. In January, Department of Revenue officials issued 11 fines worth $1.15 million in cases involving people who didn't buy drug stamps. The department collected $81,874 of the fines.

And there are plenty of collectors willing to shell out money for the stamps. In fact, all of the $5,825 worth of stamps sold so far are believed to have been bought by collectors.

"We don't think any drug dealers purchased them," said Kevin Johnson, public information officer for the Department of Revenue. "Drug dealers are fairly ingenious. They aren't going to incriminate themselves."

Dealers would actually be safe buying the stamps. State law forbids revenue officials from releasing information about stamp sales to anybody, including law enforcement authorities, Johnson said.

Hoffman attacks ICC for approving Illinois Power hike

State Rep. Jay Hoffman, D-Collinsville, has denounced Illinois Power's 9.2 percent rate hike as "unconscionable."

"This is the fifth rate hike since 1986 for Illinois Power. When will the Illinois Commerce Commission stop asking consumers to bail out company mismanagement?" Hoffman asked.

"In the middle of one of the worst recessions in two decades, with Illinois' unemployment rate soaring, this rate hike is unconscionable."

The ICC approved the rate hike earlier this month. The hike following increases of $60 million in March 1989 and $75 million in June 1990. This month's hike will yield another $100 million.

Hoffman argued that the rate increase is unjustified.

"The inflation rate is virtually zero and has been low for three years. Salaries are stagnant. How can Illinois Power justify a rate increase more than three times the rate of inflation?"

Hoffman said he would join his colleagues in sponsoring legislation to create an elected Illinois Commerce Commission.

"I have been frustrated that the powerful utility lobby has managed to stop a form of meaningful utility rate reform. But this rate hike should help put pressure on the legislature and the Governor to act."

"An elected commerce commission is the best proposal to protect consumers from utility company profit gouging." Hoffman conceded that Illinois Power, its employees and its shareholders deserve rates that will guarantee a solvent company.

"Illinois Power is an important employer which provides a vital service. But these annual rate hikes are asking too much of consumers who don't have the choice of going to a competitor. The government has a special responsibility to protect consumers from excessive rates in a monopoly situation such as the one enjoyed by utility companies."

Weber, officers honored for work in Sims' probe

Two Alton police officers and a former Madison County prosecutor have been honored by State Police for their roles in the Heather Sims murder investigation.

Alton Chief of Detectives Lt. Rick McCain, Sgt. Tony Ventimiglia and former Assistant State's Attorney Don Weber received Director's Special Awards Thursday in Collinsville.

The bronze plaques are signed by State Police Director Terrence Gainer.

Paula Sims was sentenced to life in prison after being charged and convicted of first-degree murder in the 1989 death of her 6-week-old daughter Heather.

McCain had been chief of detectives only a few days when the child was reported missing from her Alton home. Ventimiglia was the lead investigator and Weber successfully prosecuted Paula Sims. The case is on appeal.

Ventimiglia said he and McCain do not deserve all the credit for the successful investigation. "Every officer who worked on this investigation deserves a lot of the credit," he said.

Both McCain and Ventimiglia said the awards mean more to them than any others they have received because of their high regard for the State Police detectives.

"This is really the culmination of a career as a prosecutor," Weber said.

Weber received the award twice previously — for the 1983 murder conviction of John Prante of Wood River for the murder of Karla Brown and the 1982 conviction of a Collinsville teacher on charges that he sexually abused several students.

State Police Lt. Wayne Watson said the special awards are not handed out lightly.

He said they require screening by two separate committees and approval of the director.

Turkey Federation plans convention

The Illinois State Chapter of the National Wild Turkey Federation will hold its annual convention and banquet March 14.

The convention will be held at the Collinsville Holiday Inn, located off I-55/70 at Illinois 157 (Exit 11) or 1000 Eastport Plaza Drive. The convention hours run from 9 a.m. to 10:30 p.m.

There will be continuous activities all day long. Guest speakers will give seminars covering elk, whitetail deer and turkey hunting. The speakers will be Harold Knight and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Genderson.

Knight is president of the Knight and Hale Call Company and television host of the Woods and Wetlands Outdoor Show.

Knight will give seminars on calling and hunting turkeys and deer. He will also give a special kids-only seminar in the afternoon.

Wayne Genderson has won national championships for elk and turkey calling and will discuss those topics. Both he and his wife are on the Quaker Boy Calls Inc. professional staff team.

They will also give a special seminar on husband and wife teaming up for the turkey grand slam.

There will be four different turkey calling contests: Illinois open, Illinois state, junior and an owlhoot contest.

There is a $10 entry fee for all of the contests except the junior, which is $5.

Trophies will be awarded for the first three places in all events. The winner of the Illinois open and the winner of the Illinois state will also win a gun.

The Illinois state event is for state residents only. Registration for the calling contests runs from 9:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. The preliminaries will be held from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. The top five finishers in each category will compete in the finals at 3 p.m.

Those who have questions may call Joe Etchison at 662-4012 for more information.

There will be a large display from vendors on the latest in hunting gear and accessories. There will also be a room to relax and watch the newest videos on turkey hunting.

The Illinois Department of Conservation will have an information booth set up with someone to answer questions and hand out information.

There will be a ladies bus tour to St. Louis and Union Station at no extra cost.

Tickets for the banquet are on a first-come, first-served basis and cost $17.50 per person or $35 a couple. NWTF membership is urged for non-members or members whose membership will expire shortly. Seating is limited and the group will need to know by Feb. 29 how many people will attend.

For more information or banquet tickets, persons may call Blake Pazerio at 466-2892.

BAC fight to end up in court

By Jim Haverstick
Staff writer

A judge will decide if Belleville Area College trustee Ted Farmer has the right to look into the college's employee records upon request.

At Wednesday night's board meeting trustee Mark Levy asked the board to vote in favor of having a judge settle a long-standing dispute with Farmer about his right to review personnel files.

The board voted 6-1 in favor of taking the issue to court. Farmer's was the only no vote.

"The board needs to know what authority it has to protect itself and to protect its employees," Levy said.

Farmer has asked several times in the past to review employee records. Most recently he asked to see the files of four instructors and one administrator, and more than 80 resumes submitted for a recent job opening.

The board denied him access to these files. But he has been allowed access to two files in the past.

According to the current policy, a board member may review a personnel file only if the majority of the board members grant permission.

"This is the most asinine thing I have ever sat through in my entire life," Farmer said.

He said that he wanted to review the files to make sure the college's hiring practices are on the up-and-up.

Every board member should have the right to review the files to make an informed decision when voting, he said.

"I want that to be determined," said board Chairman Robert Maxwell. "I want someone to tell us if a procedure is valid and correct."

Levy pointed out that in recent months Farmer had criticized the hiring of an insurance consultant and the assistant personnel director, saying neither man hired was the most qualified applicant for the job.

Levy called Farmer's actions irresponsible, self-serving and a grave embarrassment to the college. He said he wanted a judge to decide the matter in order to protect employees from further criticism from Farmer.

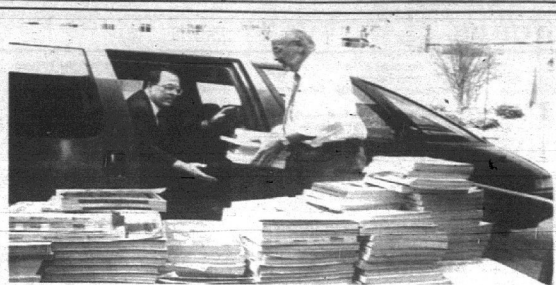

The board voted to hire Granite City attorney William Beatty to represent the board in the case. Board attorney Bob Becker cannot represent the board in this matter because he is supposed to act as a representative for all the board members.

The board tabled Farmer's request for personnel files until a judgment is made on the policy.

Ostomy group will meet Tuesday

The Ostomy Support Group will view a video called Great Comebacks at its February meeting Tuesday, Feb. 25, at 2 p.m. in the solarium, on the third floor of the Binney Wing at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, 2100 Madison Ave., Granite City. Allison Gonzalez, a representative of Convatec, will show the video and discuss ostomy supplies from Convatec.

After brief near-epidemic, measles menace disappears

Measles, that speckled menace that reached epidemic proportions in Illinois a few years back, has almost disappeared.

A measly 27 cases of the disease were reported in 1991 compared to 1,152 in 1990, the Illinois Department of Public Health has reported. That's more than a 98 percent reduction.

The number of reported measles cases in 1989 was 3,213.

The record is spotless in Madison County, with no reported measles cases for 1991, the state said. All of the cases last year were in the Chicago metro area.

State Public Health Director Dr. John Lumpkin attributed the near triumph in the war against measles to changes in state law requiring additional vaccinations for children and college students and more funding for the preventive shots.

Since 1990, documentation of two doses of measles vaccine must be shown by those entering fifth-grade or college.

The mandate was expanded in 1991 to include students entering ninth grade, and by the beginning of the 1993-94 school year, all elementary and high school students will have to show proof of two doses of measles shots.

The state agency has spent about $11 million the past three years to purchase 700,000 doses of measles vaccine administered to low-income children, primarily through public clinics.

There was evidence that single vaccinations sometimes had a high failure rate.

"The decrease in measles cases dramatically underscores how preventive measures can greatly reduce the incidence of disease and protect our population, particularly children, from illness and possible complications," Lumpkin said.

Measles can lead to encephalitis, hearing loss, pneumonia and even death.

Tri-City Shrine Club installs officers; Pragacz president

The Tri-City Shrine Club held its annual installation of officers at the Sunset Hills Country Club in Edwardsville.

Gary Ingham Sr., 1991 president of the local Shrine club, passed the gavel to Jerome "Jerry" Pragacz, the newly elected president for 1992.

Pragacz, of Granite City, expressed his gratitude to Ingham on behalf of the club members for what Ingham accomplished during his year as president.

A life member of Masonic Triple Lodge 835, Pragacz also is an honorary member of Granite City Masonic Lodge 877. He is a member of the Scottish Rite Bodies, Valley of Southern Illinois, and a member of Ainal Shrine Temple. He was appointed as ambassador of Ainal Temple for 1992.

Pragacz is a past officer of Gabriel White Shrine 78 and holds membership in Apollis Shrine 69, Alton.

He is a member of Harbom Order 73, Sword of Bunker Hill, St. Louis, and a life member of AMUE's Post 55, Berkeley, Mo. He is a member of the independent Order of Odd Fellows in Granite City and holds an honorary commission as chief of police in BelRidge, Mo.

He is retired from the General Motors Truck and Bus Group, St. Louis, where he was employed 27 years as supervisor in security.

Pragacz and his wife, Martha, reside in Granite City and are members of Nameoki Presbyterian Church. They are the parents of three daughters and two sons and have two grandchildren.

Other officers installed were: Bill Davis, vice president, Sid Strotheide, treasurer, and E. Gene Ross, secretary.

Executive Board members installed were Dan Churovich, Gary Ingham, Jewell Burnett

Jerome Pragacz
... new president and Grant Harbison. Ingham presented Ellis Hackney an award recognizing him as "Shriner of the Year" for 1991.

Following the installation ceremonies, those attending danced to the music of the Joey James Band.

The celebration was enhanced by the presence of some of the members of the Divan, the officers of Ainal Temple.

Illustrious Potentate for 1992 Kelly Hogan of Granite City and his wife, Rhonda, headed up the officers attending. Other officers were: Chief Rabbah David McCall and his wife, Delores, of Mount Vernon, High Priest and Prophet Ronald Williams and his wife, Linda, of Belleville, Director Jack Taylor and his wife, Velda, of Granite City and newly appointed Outer Guard Lou Holman and his wife, Shirley, of Fairview Heights.

Past potentates in attendance were Orville Hommert and Tom Barschak.

Past presidents of the Shrine Club attending were Kelly Hogan, Ellis Hackney, John McGee, Orville Hommert, Jack Decourcy, Gary Ingham Sr. and honorary past president Sid Strotheide.

"May your dreams come true in '92" is the slogan for Ainal Temple this year.

'Wearable Art' show Feb. 29 at Gateway Center

The second annual "Wearable Art Event" is coming to the Gateway Convention Center Saturday, Feb. 29, and Sunday, March 1.

About 100 creative designers will be selling their own creations of wearable art between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. on Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday. Fashions and accessories will be modeled both days.

"Talented exhibitors from six states will be participating," said Kay Weber, who has 11 years of experience in show-promotions. The show will include painted tennis shoes with matching painted shirts and accessories; children's pajamas and accessories; children's pajamas and clothes from infants to teens; purses, vintage designed jackets and vests; tie dye; sweat shirt dresses with matching accessories; a variety of jewelry designers; silver jewelry; antique button accessories and much more.

"This is an unprecedented shopping adventure. The designers have been juried for their uniqueness and excellent quality," said Bonnie Friess, owner and operator of Women's Fashion Boutiques.

"We are striving to offer a wide range of fashions to include everyone's taste and budget. Cost is $2 admittance for all ages to the show."

The DAR Good Citizens are, from left, April Harris of Venice, Warren Kostencki of Madison and Jennifer Wortham of Granite City.

Janet Wilson with her 25-year award.

Eight-year-old is pageant winner

Shannon Nicole Stapleton received top honors at the Miss Heart of the Midwest Pageant held Sunday, Feb. 2, at the Granite City Township Hall.

Shannon, 8, competed in the seven to eight division of the pageant in categories consisting of dress modeling, sportswear modeling, personal interview, talent and photogenic.

Shannon was crowned Little Miss Heart of the Midwest for her age division. She received first place in the talent category in which she performed a routine from the opera, "Carmen," which was choreographed by her ballet instructor, Tomi Pollock, owner of the Dance Studio. Shannon received second place in Photogenic.

Shannon's top award of the day came when she received an award as high point princess of her age division.

Shannon is the daughter of Mary and Lisa Stapleton of Granite City and the grand daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Bob Jones of Granite City and

Shannon Stapleton

Mr. and Mrs. George Stapleton of Marion.

Shannon attends Wilson Elementary School, where she is a third grader. Shannon attends Olympiad Gymnastics in St. Louis and has been a ballet student for five years at the Dance Studio in Granite City. Shannon also is a piano student of Dan Vizer and is a member of Glitter Girls.

Three graduating seniors receive DAR Good Citizens Awards

The National Society Daughters of the American Revolution met at the Niedringhaus United Methodist Church on Jan. 19.

The meeting was opened with the Pledge of Allegiance led by Regent Linda Koenig, followed by an opening prayer by Nancy Enabiser.

One student each from Venice, Madison and Granite City high schools were welcomed along with their families and friends to receive Good Citizenship Awards. Regent Linda Koenig stated these awards are presented to the three outstanding seniors who possess outstanding qualities of dependability, service, leadership and patriotism along with excellence in achievement academically.

The three chosen were: April Harris, senior at Venice High School, daughter of Bernard and Evelyn Harris. Her future plans are to attend BAC and SIU locally and major in civil or construction engineering.

Warren Kostencki, senior at Madison High School and son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Kostencki. He plans to attend college in Springfield, Mo., majoring in business.

Jennifer Wortham, senior at Granite City High School, daughter of Elmer and Janis Wortham, plans to major as a marine biologist either at University of Tampa or Florida Institute of Technology.

Awards were presented by Janet Wilson.

Regent Linda Koenig described some of the functions of DAR, which now has 208,000 members and national headquarters in Washington D.C., in a building now designated a national landmark.

The history of Drusilla Andrews Chapter was described by Sandra Wilkinson.

Janet Wilson was presented a pin for being a 25-year member in DAR.

A new member, Laura Aerne was presented. She is the daughter of Madge Hanson and a granddaughter of Virgie Collins, both of the local chapter.

A musical program that consisted of patriotic songs dating from the Revolutionary War to the present was presented by Barbara Williams at the piano and Linda Koenig and a guest, Betty Ballentine, leading the singing. Madge Hanson described the origination of the patriotic music. Refreshments were served.

Others attending were Margaret Belt, Georgia Engelke, Marjorie Hilker, Marie Reinhardt, Judi Schatz, Emma Schoen, Audrey Sperry, Dorothy Whitmer and Virgie Collins.

Travelers receive skating tips

Travelers Abroad held its January dinner meeting at Jerry's Cafeteria with 18 members and three guests present.

Dr. Alice Purdes, president, held a brief business meeting and Dorothy Frohardt and Jim Hayes were winners of the door prizes.

John Cawly of Madison was the guest speaker and he discussed international figure skating. Cawly, who started skating at age 14 at Wilson Park, now has the distinction of being an International Commission figure-skating judge. This requires many years of preparation as one judges on the local, regional and national levels before being recommended and tested for the international skating judging.

Cawly has judged ice skating competitions on four out of the seven continents. He also judges rollerskating competitions during the warmer weather.

He said to be a good judge requires four attributes: The ability to evaluate the performer, the ability to recognize different skating styles; the ability to be fair-minded in scoring; and the ability to remain unbiased.

The "compulsory" skating figures are the same for everyone and generally are performed before the judges very early in the morning because of the time required for each contestant to participate — they are never shown on television.

"Free skating," whereby each contestant presents an individual performance, is what we are accustomed to watching on the TV. Cawly remarked that costuming is often detracting from the actual skating.

In addition to the above-named, guests present were Mary Earls and Frieda Burgdorf. Other members were Marguerite Lescow, Barbara Williams, Charles and Eleanor Schweizer, Marge O'Neill, Helen Lilly, Elma Hoover, Dorothy Hoedebeck, Martha Hayes, Eunice and Julienne Hatcher, Joe and Jean Hill, Waldo Frohardt and Lillian Deips.

Alleviate stress seminar set at St. Elizabeth

A lifestyle-changes seminar dealing with stress is being offered by St. Elizabeth Medical Center's Wellness Center.

The class will be offered from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. on four consecutive Thursdays, March 5, 12, 19 and 26, in the Wellness Center classroom, 2103 Iowa St., Granite City.

Taught by Bob Turck, an SEMC social worker who has an extensive background in the teaching of stress management, this seminar deals with stress in nine different areas and "develops innovative coping strategies," said Turck.

Cost for this series is $50 per person. Participants receive a variety of materials to use in managing daily stress.

To register, persons may call the SEMC Social Work Department at 798-3018.

that, but I don't think it will do any good because (Congress) doesn't want to do it," Scott said. "I think our only hope will be to call on a higher power."

Clarence Carr of the East St. Louis Ministerial Alliance said America is made up of "boat people" who came here to find freedom. He called for America to live up to its creed.

"If the legitimate government had been overthrown in any other country, we would be welcoming them," Carr said. "If this were any other country, we would have today to bring them here."

The Urban League's John Jacob echoed Carr's thoughts and said, "These people are being denied asylum because they're black."

Hedy Epstein of the New Jewish Agenda compared the deportation of the Russians to President Franklin Roosevelt's refusal to take those on the passenger ship St. Louis who were Jewish refugees attempting to escape from Hitler's Germany just prior to World War II.

He said that during his five years of service in the regional office, he knows of only three cases where the office found it necessary to monitor a home school.

He said that most home schools are operated properly and the students are efficiently educated. He said he only knows of one case where a child was not being properly educated and fell behind when re-enrolled into a public school.

Hughes said the office in Monroe and Randolph counties has had inquiries from families about home school students returning to the public school, but none.

"We recommend that students who are interested in college take the GED (General Educational Development) test after graduating from a non-approved school to assure that they do not run into transfer problems," Cullen said.

(Part Two will talk to families involved in home schooling and support groups that provide interaction for home school students.)

"Roosevelt said they would have to apply through normal channels and they did," Epstein said. They were forced to sail back to Germany and 900 of them went up in smoke in the ovens of Auschwitz."

He said that during his five years of service in the

Bus schedule might be moved up

Students of the Madison School District may have to get out of bed a little earlier to catch the buses to school.

The Madison Board of Education on Thursday night authorized a $200,000 program to move the bus schedule up a little bit.

The program would be the early morning equivalent of the current school lunch program. It would create a need to bring the students into the buildings a few minutes earlier, school officials said.

"A lot of our students catch buses to school as late as 8:20," Superintendent Dan Kostenski said. "If we moved the schedule up a little bit, we could get the buses out earlier than now."

Buses pick up students for Madison High School, which starts at 8 a.m., at about 7:40 a.m.

Studies indicate the district also could be reimbursed $75,000 annually from the state and federal governments to offset the cost of serving children who cannot afford to pay any or part of the price, which is yet to be set.

The estimate is based on a very low assumption that 50 percent of students would qualify for free or reduced-price breakfasts. We expect quite a bit more," Sipes said, adding that next 10 years," Weber said. "It's not a popularity contest. It's a matter of issues and values."

Harvey Grossman, an ACLU attorney, said there already are two lawsuits challenging the rule pending in federal court in Chicago and the ACLU may soon file a third.

As to whether the ACLU will join in Weber's lawsuit, "we'll evaluate Mr. Weber's case when and if he files it," Grossman said.

Rhine, an attorney in private practice, has said he will follow the rule and has criticized done in terminating the contest over $80,000 prior to a trial on the merits," LeChien's order read.

Despite the effort by LeChien to protect the information, Haine said he would not comply because he would be setting a "very bad precedent."

"I'm not being disrespectful in any way, but I'm committed to protecting the integrity of the grand-jury process," Haine said. "There's just no way I can see to do it."

He is not trying to be an obstructionist or appear to be uncaring of the judge's need to expedite the probate case. But there's no provision in the statutes for any state's attorney to appear before a judge and give him grand-jury information," he said.

Haine said he had talked with LeChien on Friday and the judge said he would review the case further. LeChien could not be reached for further comment.

Belleville attorney Robert Wulter, who represents the executor of O'Donnell's estate, said he does not believe the grand-jury proceedings will do any good for the civil case.

"I don't expect that Mr. Tucker's clients are going to discover anything significant in those records, so I'm not concerned whether they ever get to see them or not," he said.

"My only regret is that Mr. Haine's position, which I'm sure is sincere, may ultimately result in an unwarranted delay in the disposition of this case."

Tucker said he had passed the order along to his clients, but had not had an opportunity to discuss it with them in detail. He declined further comment.

He said that most home schools are operated properly and the students are efficiently educated. He said he only knows of one case where a child was not being properly educated and fell behind when re-enrolled into a public school.

Hughes said the office in Monroe and Randolph counties has had inquiries from families about home school students returning to the public school, but none.

"We recommend that students who are interested in college take the GED (General Educational Development) test after graduating from a non-approved school to assure that they do not run into transfer problems," Cullen said.

(Part Two will talk to families involved in home schooling and support groups that provide interaction for home school students.)

"Roosevelt said they would have to apply through normal channels and they did," Epstein said. They were forced to sail back to Germany and 900 of them went up in smoke in the ovens of Auschwitz."

He said that during his five years of service in the regional office, he knows of only three cases where the office found it necessary to monitor a home school.

Problems are not expected if bus schedules are revised, Sipes said. "A number of parents have asked us to begin a breakfast program," he said.

Breakfasts would require about 30 minutes to serve, Sipes said.

For students who pay in full, she said, breakfasts would cost no more than lunches, potentially doubling what they pay per day.

A lack of funds for equipment, storage areas and employee hours needed for food preparation has kept the district from participating in the past in the breakfast program.

Weber's stance, Rhine said, the courts need to be less political, not more political.

VFW post gets quilt from Sioux Indians

Kathy Dohnal covers the Madison-Venice scene for the Press-Record/Journal. She can be contacted at 877-1096.

Madison's VFW Post 7451 color guard was a participant in the Abe Lincoln Tribute Feb. 9 in Springfield.

Lester White, Post commander, led the color guard consisting of Jerry Calentine, Loretta Kim, Gayle Ladson, Dale, Mary Lou Harrison of VVA 422, Jim Taylor and Andy Anderson and Post member Steve Conkovich, who parades as General MacArthur. Ceremonies were held at Lincoln's tomb with the National VFW commander present from New Jersey and the State of Illinois VFW commander. Later the Madison VFW Post went to the Illinois Vietnam Memorial to pay tribute to the fallen heroes of Vietnam.

Displayed at the local post, home on 7th street is a beautiful quilt sent down to the local post and VVA 422 from the Sioux Indians, Lakota Tribe of South Dakota, thanking the Vietnam Veterans for their food, toys and other gifts sent to them for Christmas. The local post also sent out 20 baskets of groceries and turkeys to needy families, Lester White said.

The local post home is now being renovated with new construction for a large meeting room and for other social functions, that may seat at least 200 people. The VFW 21st District meeting will be held here sometime in July. A large flagpole is being readied 30 feet tall for the post grounds, donated by Andy Economy of Madison.

The Madison School Secretaries met in the home of Dolores Bruncie Feb. 11 for their monthly meeting. Snacks were served and games played by the following members: Gladys Watts, Jackie Snell, Loma Lassen, Toni Croner, Mary Beth Sipes, Mary Anna Kaminski, Joyce Walker, Edna Mae McLinn, Caroline Sandor, Sherri Guardiola, Janet Schultz, and guest Terri Bruncie. A gift was presented to Janet Schultz, who will be retiring as a secretary in the Board of Education office.

The Bethany Class of First Baptist Church of Madison invited the Ruth Class of the Church to their Feb. 10 valentine party in the Fellowship Hall. The table was decorated with Valentine theme. Naomi James and Bonnie Fisher were hostesses. President Gertie Ashford open the party. Prayer was led by Sunday School teacher Vasta Williams.

George Ann Collins gave the devotion, "Taking Time for Tenderness."

Several games were played and gifts were presented by Naomi James to the winners.

The Ruth Class presented Mrs. Williams with a valentine in appreciation.

A card was signed and is being sent to Jerry Rainwater who is in the hospital. The next meeting will be in the Fellowship Hall March 9 with potluck.

Refreshments were served to Gertie Ashford, George Ann Collins, Helen Endicott, Bernice Whitten, Ethel Stone, Bonnie Fisher, Loretta Hill, Pansy Grace, Nora Rogers, Marge Lewis, Alpha Lassen, Vasta Williams, Gae Anderson, Mary Moore, Mary Link, Naomi James, and guest Ruby Woods from St. Louis.

Earney honored at E. Kentucky

A Granite City resident is among 197 students at Eastern Kentucky University to receive the Dean's Award for fall semester study.

Elizabeth Ann Earney, a senior majoring in speech and human service communications, received the award.

To earn the Dean's Award, students must have achieved Dean's List honors at EKU for three semesters, not necessarily consecutive.

The lapel pin award is presented to students by the dean of their academic college, according to Jill Alliger, EKU registrar. "Achieving the Dean's List three times is a significant honor."

To achieve Dean's List honors at EKU, students attempting 14 or more credit hours must earn a 3.5 grade point average out of a possible 4.0.

Lester Family to appear here on Feb. 29

Maxine Green covers the Granite City and Nameoki Township area for the Press-Record/Journal. She can be contacted at 821-6256.

Mary Alice Reed of Granite City and J. Richard Gove of Pelahatchie, Miss., were married Feb. 8 in the Granite City First Baptist Church by the Rev. Carl Watkins. The matron of honor was Willa Mae Reed of Granite City, a sister of the bride, and Nannie Floyd of Mount City, Ill., also a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid.

Best man was Thomas Gove, of Warwick, N.Y., son of the groom. Clinton Howard and Bogle Hefner were ushers. A reception following the ceremony was held at the church, with 71 attending. The newlyweds are planning a wedding trip to Niagara Falls in the spring, and now are making their home in Pelahatchie, Miss.

Monday morning, Feb. 10, friends of Mary's held a birthday celebration for her at Ponderosa. Those attending were Alfred Schure, Olive Joyner, Bonita Schultz, Margaret Chadwick, Dorothy Telle, Charlotte Smith, Birdie Myenburg, Lenora Cumberland, Evelyn Miles and grandson, Bryan, Myra Grote, Willa Mae Reed, Nannie Floyd, Pauline Glendening, Carolyn Sue Collier, and Louise Acocis.

An evening of gospel music will be presented by the Lester Family at the Granite City First Baptist Church on Saturday, Feb. 29, at 7 p.m. A free nursery will be available and the public is invited to attend this special presentation.

The monthly Avon meetings for District 019 were held Feb. 12 and 13 in the Avon office on Edison Avenue. District manager Phyllis Lester opened the meetings by getting verbal responses from representatives on the introduction of the new skin care, "Ancu." She also introduced the new cologne "Contrast," being launched in Campaign 7. Small skits on how to sell and how not to get a sale were done by Alma Reynolds, Elaine Staton, Nannie Myers, Sandy Hamilton, Marian Twigg and Shirley Tillman. Patty Clark, Tammy Tannhill and Roger Weiss were awarded a special pin for reaching goals set by the district manager. All attendees who took two Contrast colognes or more to demonstrate, received a free key chain and a sample of fragrance. Those attending the meetings were: Alma Reynolds, Kathy Waeltermann, Debi Townsend, Wopna Johnson, Chloé Denney, Alice Waltz, Rosa Lux, Micky Strack, Dee Sido, Tammy Thomas, Lenore Wertz, Winnie Feister, Eileen Yobbi, Paule Wirth, Kim Denera, Billie Bosworth, Cora Nance, Dorothy Alsop, Donna Juelerott, Sandra Hamilton, Julia Lotzy, Johann Rollins, Rose Doelen, Carol Giffand, Lillian Ruegg, Gladys Templeman, Clarine Coggins, Nadine Papp, Chana Estebrook, Helen Miller, Lisa Alfred, Susan Wolford, Andrea Oliver, Deb McElroy, Bonnie Hunter, Gerri Clark, Deb Ramirez, Mary A. Rodgers, Angie McGraw, Marian Drwig, Mary Miller, Beth Moss, Rosemary Ralston, Mary Schmittling, Janice Watson, Cindy Lowe, Patty Clark, JoAnne Huelskoller, C. Marie Roberson, Karen Taylor, Beverly D. Wertz, Clara Winter, Karen Hare, Patty Miles, Hope Belovitch, Ruth Ray and Andrea Phillips.

The Ruth Class of Calvary Baptist Church met for its February monthly meeting Tuesday night, Feb. 11, with 13 present. Prayer requests were made for Grace Cruise, Marjorie Borth's daughters, Diana and Hope, in Barnes Hospital and Debbie, Semia Sides, Pam Vasquez, Edna Simmons, Pat Wallis, Brenda Bivens, Lois Bivens's sister, Dena Hawkins, Maxine Hoover's granddaughter, Sheila, Eileen Sadgett, Louella Propes, Laura Ready, Nancy Dunlap, Fay Jolly, with prayer by Phyllis Knight, Pauline Hall and Pauline Weir. A devotional on "God's Love" from Romans 5:8 was given by Lois Bivens. Minutes of the January meeting were given by secretary Ruth Dagon. Treasurer's report was given by Pat Wallis, with $15 collected, making $64.50 in the treasury. Phyllis Knight gave cheer chairman report. She reported six thinking-of-you cards, six get-well cards and two sympathy cards sent, making a total of 14 cards sent. The class sent a memorial gift to Roger Hoover to Baptist Children's Home for Gerry Hoover for $15 on Jan. 21. Total present for the month was $2 making an average attendance of 16 percent; total contacts were 99, averaging 9 percent; total cards 16, average three percent. Pauline Weir reported she received a kit for class officers duties; a meeting is planned for officers on Feb. 24 at 7 p.m. The St. Patrick's banquet was moved from March 17 to March 20. It is to be catered by Petrie's Restaurant with the cost of $6.25 for each person; the time is 6:30 p.m. Under new business Phyllis Knight suggested we need to do something for shut-in's starting in February. It was decided to visit the last Thursday of each month with the February visitation being on February 23 at 12:45 p.m. Meeting at the church and going to visit from there. A bus trip was planned for March 27 to Aunt Bea's Restaurant in St. Charles, meeting at the church at 10 a.m. with a trip through Old St. Charles afterward. Pauline Hall has the March 3 class meeting at Church at 7 p.m. Dorothy Barylske has the devotional and Phyllis Knight in charge of games. It was decided to contact Delphine Kinder about a trip to Tomahawk Camp grounds in April sponsored by Pat Wallis at her campsite. "We will leave the church at 10 a.m. and each person will bring a covered dish.

The rules of the December business meeting were discussed on bus and van trips that concern each class and church functions. Refreshments were served by Gladys Hutson, and prizes awarded by Grace Cruise. Our project for this month was decorating cans for the collection of money to be given to Carmel Children's Home for Christmas presents. Each class member agreed to fill these with change they have until Christmas. Those present were Norma Ross, Mary Hoover, Pat Wallis, Dorothy Watkins, Ruth Dagon, Ruth Moser, Pauline Hall, Maxine Hoover, Phyllis Knight, Dorothy Barylske, Lois Bivens, Gladys Hutson, and Pauline Weir the teacher.

Workshop on city heritage

Area residents will be able to trace the history of Granite City from Revolutionary War days to the present in a Saturday Experience workshop.

It will be held from 10 a.m. to noon on Saturdays, Feb. 29 and March 7, in Room 511 at the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College, 4950 Maryville Road.

Workshop instructor Georgia Engelke said participants also will have an opportunity to learn about their own roots.

Cost of the workshop is $14. For more information call 931-0600.

Jerseyville ends Lady Warrior season again

Scheffer moves to quarterfinals

Pat Scheffer stood a good chance to become Granite City's first place winner in the state wrestling tournament since 1989. But he was the only Warrior left after Friday's action.

Scheffer, a junior 100-pounder, won two matches Friday and moved into the quarterfinal round at the Assembly Hall in Champaign.

Following a first-round bye, Scheffer beat Stephen Stanley of Mattoon 12-2 in his first match.

A 5-4 victory over Javier Quintanilla of Waukesha Valley landed Scheffer (39-3) into Saturday's quarterfinals against Lindsey Durlacher of Buffalo Grove (38-0-1).

Senior 116-pounder Ryan King (41-3) lost his opening match 8-4 in overtime to Luke Leary of Downers Grove North and was eliminated.

Senior 130-pounder Dan Hicks finished at 31-15 after dropping a 7-5 decision to Nick Parisi of (Orland Park) Sandburg in the first round.

Senior 140-pounder Chris Hoffstot (39-1-1) and senior 145-pounder Jerry Heubachman (37-8) were also knocked out of commission. Hoffstot lost to Steve Bakay of Barrington 5-2 in the first round, and Heubachman was bested 7-2 by Lamonte Wilson of Danville in his first match.

Final details on the individual tournament will appear in Wednesday's Journal.

Trojans step past Teutopolis, 76-73

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

With four key players fouling out in the fourth quarter, no one could have given the Trojans much of a chance against the mighty Teutopolis Wooden Shoes.

Madison gave itself a tremendous confidence boost Friday with a thrilling 76-73 home win over T-town — the No. 3 Class A team in the state. Junior center Ronnie Williams and senior forward Cernyn Macon were the only experienced players left at the end, but they picked up the slack by combining for 51 points and 20 rebounds.

"This is the first time I've felt proud of this team since about the third game of the year," said Trojan coach Al Collins, who saw his team improve to 13-11. "It was a complete team effort."

It had to be. The Trojans trailed 38-52 after three quarters, then Collins watched helplessly as Willie Woodson, Ron Lett, Robert Weathers and Doug Griggs all fouled out in the final quarter. It was 68-62 when Weathers left, but the gutsy Trojans scored the next 10 points. Macon (22 points, 10 rebounds) rebounded a missed free throw and converted a three-point play, then he fed Williams (29 points, 10 rebounds) for the tying basket with 2:58 left.

Griggs then made a nice pass to Williams for the go-ahead basket. Williams made one of two free throws with 20 seconds left for a 74-71 lead and the Wooden Shoes' Matt Swingle missed a three-pointer. Mike Horn rebounded and scored to make it 74-73 with eight seconds left. After two timeouts, Madison finally inbounded the ball to Macon, who was fouled by Pat Bloemer (33 points) with five seconds left. He made both free throws to make it 76-73 before junior Derrick Crawford made one of the game's key plays. He fouled Scott Sandschaefer with one second left before Teutopolis was able to attempt a three-Successful basketball teams play great defense. They drive opponents crazy with waves of pressure that usually winds up producing what little offense is needed.

Case in point: The Jerseyville Panthers, 24-1 and the top seed in the Granite City Regional/Sectional complex, used a relentless man-to-man defense to dispatch the Lady Warriors 56-29 in Jerseyville on Thursday. It's the third time in four years Jerseyville has ended the Lady Warriors' season.

The win gives the Panthers a regional title and sends them to the sectional semifinals Tuesday at Memorial Gym at 6:30 against East Louis Lincoln. The other semifinal pits Southwestern Conference foes Belleville West and Collinsville at 8:30.

Granite City, which ended its season at 14-10, never got on track offensively. The Lady Warriors managed only 29 shots from the field. Jerseyville scored the game's first six points and never trailed.

Exactly one week earlier, the Panthers dumped the Lady Warriors, 75-39. Although the score was closer this time, it was still by all definitions a rout.

ends prep career with 12

"Their defense was so tough that we couldn't get any shots off," said Lady Warrior coach Allen Lobdell. "We couldn't play our normal game."

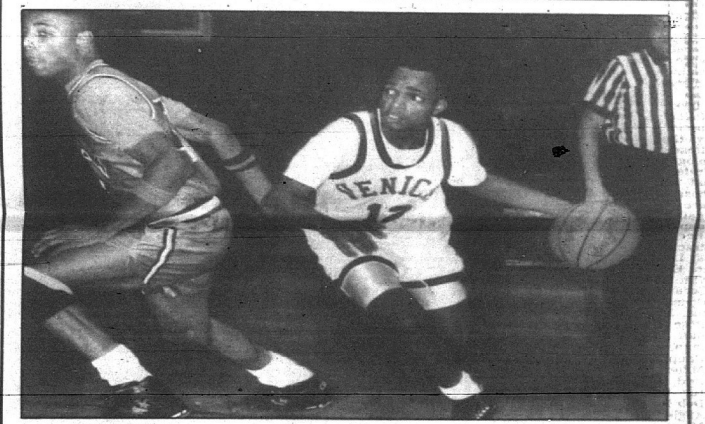

Unfortunately for the Lady Warriors, Jerseyville was playing their normal type of game, according to coach Denise Kallal. The 29-point effort was the lowest single game total of the year for the Lady Warriors.

"We had a very good defensive effort," said Kallal. "We almost always do. Our defense helped us by making some turnovers which we were able to capitalize on." The Panthers forced 25 turnovers and made 10 steals. What they lacked in size (no player was taller than 5-10), they made up for in tenaciousness. Granite City players were constantly hounded when they had the ball and Jerseyville was successful in denying the inside pass. "They play that in-your-face wild-eyed type of defense and our girls just aren't used to it," said Lobdell. "It's hard."

Not quite — Johnathan Love of Venice drives to the basket, but the Red Devils fell just short in the regular-season finale Thursday. Sunner won 58-57 as Venice finished with a 3-4 home record. They open regional play Tuesday in Freeburg against Lofvelet at 7 p.m. Details of Thursday's game are on Page 3B.

Turnovers, missed FT cost Devils

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

The Red Devils are looking for a spark to take into regional competition. They almost got a big one Thursday.

Venice almost knocked off a strong Sumner team, but lost 58-57 as junior Cedric Wiley's free throw bounced off the rim with two seconds left. The Devils ended the regular season at 13-12 and will play Lovejoy at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the first round of the Freeburg Regional.

Clinton Harris saw his team lose six of its last seven games, but they had their chances against the 17-3 Bulldogs.

"Overall, I'm satisfied with this game outside of the turnovers," said Harris. "If we didn't make so many, we could have won."

Bulldog guard Torri Fossett, a 6-1 senior, scored 14 of his 23 points in the fourth quarter. Sumner scored the first 13 points of the quarter to take a 53-42 lead. But the Devils came right back with 12 straight points and took a 53-52 lead on a three-pointer by Ivan Johnson with 1:26 left.

Johnson had the best game of his abbreviated senior season with 30 points on 12-of-17 shooting.

"Ivan just got tired of people talking about him," said Harris. Fossett responded with a three-pointer, but Johnson tied it after he and Johnathan Love combined to steal the ball with 50 seconds left.

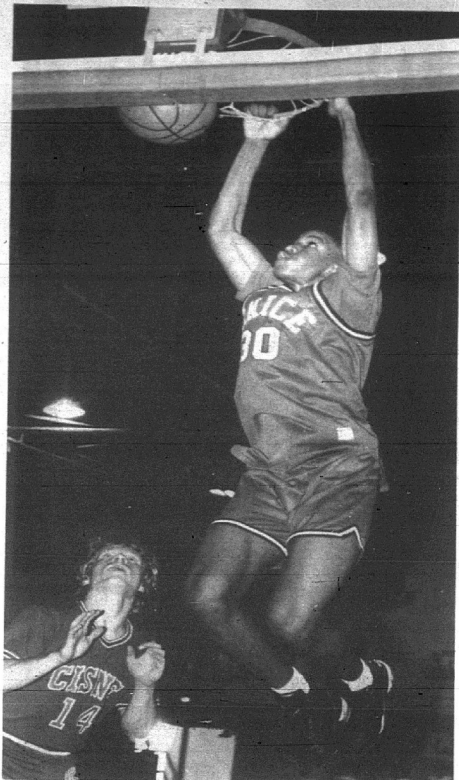

But the Bulldogs took the lead on two free throws by 6-2 senior Randy Holmes with 19 seconds left. The Devils tried to set up a last shot, probably for either Johnson or center Marcus Franklin (16 points), but Wiley was fouled by Holmes at the top of the key with two seconds left.

Johnson tried to go to the free throw line, but the officials and the Bulldogs caught that. Wiley calmly sank the first one, but missed the second and Fossett grabbed the rebound as time expired.

"I guess he just didn't get enough arc on it," said Harris. "Usually the first one is the tough one in a situation like that. But Cedric hit the first one like it was nothing."

Sumner took an early 11-2 lead, but the Devils fought back to within 13-11 at the end of the first quarter and it was close the rest of the way. In all, there were 11 lead changes.

"We should learn from this game," said Harris. "Ivan is their best player. I played

T.J. Davis fighting for berth on U.S. boxing squad in Colorado this week

By Mike Kelly
Staff writer

T.J. Davis has his sights on the Summer Olympics and a gold medal.
Davis, 20, who began his boxing career 12 years ago, has fought nearly 200 amateur bouts and won 80 percent of them. But his ultimate goal is winning the gold this summer in Barcelona.

The Granite City native gets a chance to move a step closer to that dream this week at the U.S. Championships in Colorado Springs, Colo. A gold or silver medal at the championships will earn him a trip to Worcester, Mass., for the Olympic trials in June.

"I've got to win five fights and win in the trials," said Davis, a 47-pounder who works for Dempsey-Adams Auto Body. "My biggest challenge will come from the top two contenders, [Toss Thompson and Patrick Lyrd]. I feel much more confident going into the tournament this year."

Davis reached the quarterfinals at the championships last season before losing a close decision.

"Everything was new to me," he said. "But that year of experience will pay off in a big way. Last season, I was going up there hoping to make a decent showing. But now I know the competition."

Davis never dreamed his career would take off like it has. His father (Terry), who did a little boxing in the Army, took him to the gym one day and the rest is history.

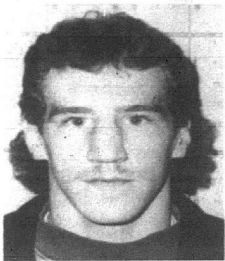

"I was 9 years old when dad put the gloves on me," Davis said. "I was always scrapping with my uncle (Joe). He felt if I wanted to fight that badly, he'd let me do it in the gym. The sport is addictive. Once you get it in your blood, it's hard to get away from it."

Davis has developed the reputation of being a big puncher. Unlike professional boxing, which requires more patience and technique, amateur boxing is judged on aggressiveness through three rounds, each three minutes long.

"The judges give you points for how many punches you land," Davis said. "I've never had any problems sticking someone because I have what many feel is the true form."

"I'm never out of position. I have a smooth release and I'm always landing clean, hard shots. I basically aim for the body. The more body punches you land, the more points you'll score."

Davis, who fights out of the Cherokee Boxing Club in St. Louis, has dominated the area the last three years. His latest conquest came Feb. 9 when he won a 5-0 decision over Randy Carver.

T.J. Davis
... thinking of gold

"He was supposed to be my biggest challenge before the championships," Davis said. "But I landed some big shots early. That gave me control of the match."

Davis has ambitions of turning pro by next year.
"No matter what happens, I'm going pro," he said. "The coaches at the club, and my former coach, Roger Bloodworth (who now works with boxing promoter Lou Duva), feel I'd be a good professional fighter. I throw a heavy punch. It's my biggest weapon."

Oba Carr, ranked seventh among junior welterweights by the International Boxing Federation and 17th among super lightweights by the World Boxing Council, felt the brunt of Davis' attack in 1986 at the Junior Olympic semifinals in Marquette, Mich. Davis won a split decision and earned a silver medal.

"That was the launching pad for my dream of winning an Olympic gold medal," Davis said. "After I beat Carr and earned a medal, I knew I could match my talents against anyone."

Willie's way — Willie Woodson of Madison drives to the basket as Cernyn Macon looks on in the background. The Trojans open regional play against Lebanon at 9 p.m. Tuesday in Freeburg.

Faceoff — Chris Goclan of the Warrior hockey team wins a faceoff from Parkway South's Todd Brereton during Monday's 5-4 loss to the Patriots, which eliminated Granite City from the playoffs. Goclan will be one of the returning players in 1992-93.

SIUE hosting two baseball camps this week

SIUE will host two special baseball camps in February — one for pitchers and catchers and the other for coaches. The pitchers and catchers camp, limited to the first 100 applicants, will be Feb. 26 and Feb. 28, with sessions from 6:30-9 p.m. both days at the Vandalia Center. The cost is $35 per person and is limited to players ages 13-19. The camp includes individualized instruction in all phases of pitching and catching, a camp T-shirt and a summer baseball camp discount. Some of the area's finest professional, collegiate and high school coaches will provide instruction.

The coaches clinic is Feb. 29 from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. The clinic will include a morning reception from 8-9 a.m.; a clinic featuring pro, college, junior college and high school instructors; lunch; refreshments; and an afternoon Cougar baseball indoor practice from 2:30-4:30. The cost is $35 for the first coach, $30 for the second coach from the same organization and $25 for any additional coaches from the same organization. For more information, call SIUE head baseball coach Gary Collins or SIUE assistant athletic director Brad Hewitt at 662-2871.

Sanduschaer had to make the first free throw, miss the second and hope his teammates could rebound and score the tying basket. But Sanduschaer was 0 for 4 from the foul line, including his final miss.

Teutopolis, which brought a large contingent of fans, fell to 24-2.

"We owed them one," said Collins, recalling a last-second loss in Teutopolis last year. "We have the same amount of talent as last year (when the Trojans were 20-8 and went to the sectional). But we had better role players last year. This year everybody was worried about their scoring average. Tonight, we finally played good team defense."

It took a while, though, before the Trojans could contain Bloese-

mer. He was 6 for 7 from three-point range in the first half and finished with eight from that distance. But Madison finally wore him down just enough to catch the Shoes.

"His arm had to be getting tired from all that shooting," said Collins.

Meanwhile, Williams (13 of 19 from the floor) took charge underneath.

"There's no one in the country who can stop me," he said. "Well, at least not around here. I'm playing hard and taking a leadership role. This is definitely a confidence-builder for us. But we can't let it get to our heads."

The Trojans finished the regular season in the Mid-County Shootout against Spring Valley in northern Illinois at 5:30 p.m. Saturday. They play Lebanon in the Freedom Regional on Tuesday at 9 p.m.

believe we were held to 29 points."

Lady Warrior senior Karen Sykes led all scorers with 12 points in her last prep game. Sophomore center Jamie Cavanaugh chipped in 11 points and nine rebounds and also blocked seven shots. Their teammates combined for just six points and eight field goal attempts.

Jerseyville had much better balance with three players in double figures. Tricia Ivers and Julie Carroll led the Panthers with 11 points. Amy Tuetken added 10.

"Carroll did a good job for us," said Lobdell. "Our shooting wasn't all that great, but we were able to do some things inside that we don't normally do."

"We took the outside away," said Lobdell. "They were forced to go inside and they made the deep passes. I thought we'd be able to stop them with our height, but they were too physical."

Granite City, despite playing some of its best defense of the year, found themselves down by 13 at the half. Two baskets by Cavanaugh in the opening minutes of the second half made it 25-16.

Hopes for a comeback were dashed, however, as Jerseyville went on a 16-5 spurt at the end of the third quarter to bury the

GCHS baseball alumni night slated for May 15

The Granite City School Board on Tuesday approved plans for an alumni baseball night to be held May 15.

Warrior baseball coach Bob Stegemeier is on the Baseball Alumni Night committee along with Babe Champion, Greg Patton, Roger Belishe and Dave Dombeck. Varsity Field will be the site. The evening will start with a home run contest at 5 p.m. for any GCHS baseball alumnus from the 1900s through 1980s who lettered as a senior.

At 6:30, there will be a game featuring players from the 1940s, '50s and '60s, with a special format allowing everyone to participate. At 8 p.m., the players from 1970 to the present will play an abbreviated game until approximately 10 p.m.

Registration is required. For more information and a registration form, write to Granite City Baseball Alumni Committee, P.O. Box 973, Granite City, Ill., 62040.

Park having baseball, softball signups now

The Granite City Park District is taking signups for boys and girls wanting to play youth baseball or ponyball softball.

Any boy or girl who will be 8 years old this year is eligible. Names are placed on a list and teams are formed from this list or managers who need players will fill rosters from the list. Boys and girls who will be 15 years old and younger may also have their name put on a list and every effort will be made to get them on a team.

Anyone interested in managing a youth baseball or softball team should also call or stop in the park office. For more information, call Ray Hoffman at 877-3059.

Roxette members merge diverse tastes, backgrounds

By Alan Sculley
Correspondent

It didn't take Roxette long to find its way to the top of America's pop charts. The group's 1989 debut album "Look Sharp!" sold 6 million copies and produced three to five singles — "The Look," "Listen To Your Heart" and "Dangerous."

Finding a focused musical identity for Roxette, however, didn't come so easily. In fact, guitarist Per Gessle, who along with singer Marie Fredriksson fronts Roxette, said it was only with "Joyride," the group's latest album, that he felt at home with all the material that was released on an album.

"Joyride" is basically the first album where we've known exactly what we wanted to do," he said.

Through all the songs on "Look Sharp!" were written by Gessle or Fredriksson, they did a lot of experimenting.

"It was really hard to know exactly what you want to do since the band was so young, and we didn't know which direction we wanted to go in," he said. "So every song was like an adventure."

Part of the challenge for Gessle and Fredriksson has involved merging their contrasting musical tastes and backgrounds into a cohesive sound.

Prior to forming Roxette in 1986, Gessle had made records with Gyllene Tider, a new wave-influenced pop band that was one of Sweden's most popular acts. Fredriksson, who is strongly influenced by jazz vocalists such as Ella Fitzgerald and Bill lie Holiday, had released three solo albums featuring Joni Mitchell-style jazz music.

"We shared the ambition to try to do something together, let's try to do it in English and let's try to get the records out in Europe," Gessle said. "That was sort of Plan A, so to speak."

What kind of attitude we should have with a band on stage and what kind of albums we should make, we didn't really know. We just wrote zillions of songs to see what worked and what we felt comfortable with."

Gessle, 32, said a few "mistakes" made it onto the group's first two albums (the 1986 "Pearls of Passion," released only in Europe, and "Look Sharp!"). He cited "View From The Hill" and "Chances" as songs from "Look Sharp!" that aren't as well suited to today's Roxette.

"When you're two persons who have very strong wills, sometimes you go wrong, sometimes you go right," Gessle said. "Fortunately, 'The Look' was one of those songs that we felt, hey, this is special. This is very much the two of us."

If trying to find a musical focus wasn't difficult enough, when it came time to make "Joyride" in early 1990, Gessle and Fredriksson also had to deal with the demands of having scored a multiplatinum hit album.

"The hard thing with 'Joyride' was there was an enormous amount of pressure from everyone to sort of have another album that sold 6 million copies," Gessle said.

"It helped a little bit, I think, that we've been around for so long," he said. "We're not like 21 years old, so we've been around in the business and we were a bit used to this type of pressure before, even though, of course, this is the first international success we've had."

For "Joyride" Gessle and Fredriksson teamed with long-time producer Clarence Öbergman and engineer Anders Herrlin, who also play keyboards and bass respectively in Roxette. (The other key group member is guitarist Jonas Jasson.)

Together they created a rockier, edgier sound than on "Look Sharp!" translating their more aggressive live attitude to the studio.

"We worked really hard to find really good and raunchy guitar sounds," Gessle said. "And also the arrangements of the songs were a little bit edgier. Also, we picked and wrote songs like 'Hotblooded,' which is a little bit more upfront than say 'Dangerous,'" Gessle said.

The diversity of the album may surprise those who have only heard the hit singles from "Joyride" — the poppish title track and the ballad "Fading Like A Flower."

In addition to the hard-rocking "Hotblooded," other highlights include a Motown-ish rocker, "Soul Deep," and a textured ballad, "Watercolours In The Rain" — all of which are typically catchy Roxette songs.

"I mean 'Watercolours In The Rain' is very much Roxette, but so is 'Hotblooded.' And that's the way we work and that's the way we are," Gessle said. "If you check out our record collections, you will find Joni Mitchell and the Small Faces, but also Led Zeppelin and Iron Maiden.

"It's possible for a person to listen to all those things, not that I particularly fancy Iron Maiden. That's a terrible example," Gessle said with a hearty laugh.

Roxette headlines an 8 p.m. show Feb. 26 at the Fox Theatre. Tickets are $17.50 and $15.50.
